

Dear Zafar Bhai,

I have been travelling in the Middle East, Africa and China over the last couple of months and just realised that Sada-e-Watan has achieved another major milestone – its fifth anniversary. I warmly congratulate you on this achievement.

I sincerely admire your community service, hard work and passion for journalism. The hard work that goes into providing the Sada-e-Watan's level of coverage of local events / news as well as events in Pakistan is exemplary and demonstrates your dedication to keeping us up to date on important issues that affect the community. You and the Sada-e-Watan team have made a great contribution to the Pakistani community in Sydney without any financial return. Indeed Sydney's Pakistani community is most fortunate to have a journalist of your calibre.

I would also like to thank Sada-e-Watan for supporting the Edhi Foundation over the years, a cause that anyone caring for Pakistan must contribute to.

Best wishes for the future and well done for five years of hard work - we all look forward to the next five.

Kind regards,

Zia Qureshi
